

BALKANS BRANDED MENACE TO PEACE

RUSSIA BALKS
ON JAPANESE
PEACE TREATYBID TO 11-NATION CONFERENCE IS TURNED DOWN

BY WILLIAM L. PHILLIPS

London, July 23. (AP)—Soviet Russia tonight rejected the American invitation to an 11-nation preliminary conference on peace for Japan, proposing instead the speedy convocation of a four-power foreign ministers council to take up the task.

Replying to a United States invitation of July 11 to meet with 10 other powers in Washington on Aug. 19, the Soviet government declared in a statement broadcast by the Moscow radio that "the Soviet government cannot agree that the question of the calling of a conference for preparation of a peace treaty with Japan be decided by the government of the United States * * * without preliminary consultation with the * * * Soviet Union, China and Great Britain."

The United States proposal for an 11-nation conference of Britain, the U. S. S. R., China, France, The Netherlands, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, India, The Philippine Commonwealth and the United States, all members of the Far Eastern commission, was interpreted at the time as having been designed precisely to discard the foreign ministers council in making the peace for Japan. Long delays have been encountered in the council in writing the peace for Europe.

MAY RECONSIDER

Washington, July 23. (AP)—Secretary of State Marshall indicated today the United States will reconsider its proposal for an immediate veto-free start on drafting a Japanese peace treaty as a result of Russia's rejection of the whole plan.

The Russians want the big power council of foreign ministers, in which each nation has a veto, to draft the treaty, while the United States wants the work done by a special 11-nation body without the veto rule.

Atomic Bomb Still Being Made In U. S.;
Research Continues

Washington, July 23. (AP)—The United States is still making atomic bombs, and looking for ways to make better ones, the Atomic Energy Commission reported to Congress today.

The commission further said that if this country is to hold its leadership in atomic energy development many more scientists and industries must be drawn into the program.

In its second semi-annual statement, the commission said it "has pressed the production of fissionable materials and the improvement of atomic weapons as essential to the security of the country."

The report added that the commission is pushing research for "wider application of atomic energy and its by-products" to peacetime uses.

Congress Scrambles
To Clear Calendar
And Quit Saturday

Washington, July 23. (AP)—"Must" legislation to unify the Army and Navy was shaped up for passage when a Senate-House conference committee approved it tonight. The action helped smooth the path for hoped-for adjournment Saturday.

The compromise on the bill strongly advocated by President Truman will go to the House and then to the Senate for final action. It provides separate Army, Navy and Air Forces departments under one cabinet officer, a secretary of defense.

Action climaxed a laborious day in both chambers which sweated to get their calendars cleared of large numbers of secondary bills. Over them hung the shadows of six large appropriations bills which must be approved to achieve the Saturday vacation goal.

The money bills involving many billions were in various stages of agreement. They have to pass to run the government this fiscal year. They include finances for the Army, the veterans and foreign aid.

The Senate Republican leadership met and gave its backing to a proposed group of special investigators to be conducted after adjournment.

MAN WITH GUN
VISITS CAPITOLStranger Arrested Just After President Pays
Call In Senate

Washington, July 23. (AP)—A man with a pistol in his pocket was arrested in the Capitol today just after President Truman had made a precedent-shattering visit to the Senate chamber, but officers expressed confidence there was no connection between the events.

Edward F. McGinnis, Senate sergeant at arms, told reporters the man identified himself as Clifton R. H. Spires, 39, of Augusta, Ga. He added that the man had been a patient in a veterans hospital at Augusta.

Spikes was taken into custody in a washroom one floor below the Senate chamber by policemen who said they noticed the weapon in his pocket. McGinnis declared it was "purely coincidental" that the arrest took place only five minutes after Mr. Truman had delivered a brief speech one flight up as the "ex-Senator from Missouri."

Private Lorain Crump of the Capitol police told newsmen he noticed the gun in Spikes' pocket when they were together in the washroom.

Crump called Private Paul G. Shelby, who asked the man if he had a permit for the pistol.

Both officers said Spies denied he had a gun, but they searched him and found a .25 caliber automatic. He was taken to the District of Columbia - operated Gal-winger hospital for examination. McGinnis said he believed Spies would be held at the hospital "probably for 30 days" for observation.

Atop the list the policy committee put inquiries into housing and the cost of living. Most of the investigations will require both Senate and House approval.

President Truman gave the Senate a surprise while it dined through a list of 202 bills on its calendar when he strode into the chamber and sat down at his old seat, toward the back on the Democratic side. He was greeted with strong applause and told the Senate he gets "homesick for this seat."

The president's informal visit, which followed lunch with a group of congressional friends at the capitol, was without precedent.

One of the six big appropriation bills advanced toward action on the Senate floor when the appropriations committee approved $1,530,361,400 to pay for foreign aid. It carries $400,000,000 requested by President Truman for helping Greece and Turkey fend off Communism. The committee restored most of the 12.6 per cent cut in the bill made by the House.

Another of the six cleared a Senate-House conference committee. It carries funds for the veterans administration and other independent executive offices.

Other appropriations awaiting final passage include funds for the agriculture department, war department, government corporations and war department civil functions. The latter covers rivers and harbors and flood control works.

A bill to increase the national minimum wage was put aside for this session by a House labor subcommittee.

Costa Rica Strike
Turns Into Revolt
With Fatal Gunfire

San Jose, Costa Rica, July 23. (AP)—Five persons were reported killed by gunfire and 20 others wounded today as a strike called by opposition party leaders paralyzed completely San Jose's business activities and caused the closing of all banks and commercial establishments.

(Informal sources in neighboring Guatemala said the strike, which they termed a general strike against the government of Costa Rica, had developed into open revolt and that fighting was taking place in San Jose and the city of Cartago.)

GUERRILLAS KILL 23

Athens, July 23. (AP)—The ministry of public order announced tonight that a "Communist band" descended from 6,000-foot Mount Vermion Tuesday night and killed 23 civilians in an attack on the village of Anatolikon in north central Greece. Sixteen villagers were wounded and 40 houses in the settlement of 1,200 persons were set afire before gendarmes units drove off the guerrilla force of 300 men. The dead included 16 women and children.

SIGLER-DEWEY
MEETING WILL
SKIP POLITICSGOVERNORS LIKELY TO ATTEND FLINT
DINNER JULY 30

Lansing, July 23. (P)—"No political implications" should be read into any meeting he might have with Governor Tom Dewey of New York, Governor Sigler said today.

Dewey had used the governors' conference, from which Sigler returned today, as a sounding board for his presidential aspirations.

Sigler pointed out that his engagement calendar for the next week would make it impossible for him to meet Dewey unless the New York governor made an effort to contact him. The only possibility of a meeting seemed to be at a dinner at Flint Wednesday, which the governor planned to attend, and to which it was believed Dewey will be invited.

"I will make no special effort to meet Mr. Dewey," said Sigler, "although as a governor of a very great state he is entitled to every courtesy in his visit to Michigan."

Sigler said he understood Dewey intended to spend most of his time with his mother in Orono.

Boost For Vandenberg

The governor said everyone at the governors' conference "spoke very highly" of Michigan Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, and "held him in great esteem."

"The big question is just what he's going to do," said Sigler. "If he's going to be a candidate (for president) it's time he announced himself."

Sigler's press conference this morning was his first since his return from the governors' conference and a visit to his home state of Nebraska.

The governor said he planned to call a special meeting of the administrative board to go over various governmental matters that have cropped up in his absence including demands for extra funds for his investigations made by the attorney general, Eugene F. Black.

Black has asked for the money to continue his probes of the new car "black market" and conditions at the state prison of southern Michigan.

The governor said he has not yet decided what to do about the Pontiac hospital probe and said he wished to withhold any comment on the school aid fund dispute pending some clarification by court action.

POLAND BARRED
FOR U. S. RELIEFSurvey Reveals Nation
Has Sufficient Food
For Rest Of Year

Washington, July 23. (P)—The United States excluded Poland today from a prospective $15,000,000 share in American foreign relief and there were indications that Hungary also would be ruled out because of improved crop prospects in Soviet-dominated Eastern Europe.

The state department announced the action on Poland, publishing an official report saying the country has sufficient food in sight for minimum needs until at least the end of this year.

Officials said at the same time that estimates of current crop yields in Hungary were mounting.

Secretary of State Marshall said Poland's boycott on the Paris conference on the Marshall plan for European recovery was not the reason for the decision.

Hungary's tentative allotment is $3,000,000.

Actual relief shipments meanwhile have started to Austria, Italy, Greece, and Trieste. Negotiations have started for a relief agreement with China.

Colonel R. L. Harrison, special assistant to Secretary of Agriculture Anderson, made the survey of Poland's needs at Marshall's request.

Indonesians Burn
Up Towns In Face
Of Dutch Advance

BY STANLEY SWINTON

Batavia, Java, Thursday, July 24. (P)—Dutch troops driving in from three sides have captured the important north Java coast port of Cheribon, semi-official dispatches from the Cheribon area said today.

The reports said Dutch forces moved into the city, 130 miles east of Batavia, yesterday afternoon. Cheribon's Indonesian defenders offered no resistance and bridges in the area were captured intact, the dispatches added.

The port city was captured by troops who pushed halfway across Java from Bandoeng. It is in the heart of the rich northwest Java rice growing area.

The capture of Cheribon occurred as Indonesian Republicans began a systematic application of a scorched earth policy.

Four Republican towns were put to the torch by the Republicans, an Indonesian communique announced. Salatiga, important objective south of Semarang, was burning when Dutch forces entered the town.

The retreating Republicans also put the torch to Lawang, 12 miles north of Malang, in east central Java, toward which other Dutch forces were advancing, and to Soemadang and Tjitalengka, 20 miles east of Bandoeng, in western Java.

In Sumatra, to which the fighting had spread, an official Dutch dispatch said irregular Indonesian soldiers belonging to the so-called People's army had burned more than 100 homes before evacuating Arnhem, a few miles south of Medan. Damage from the fires in Sumatra was estimated by the Dutch as high as $200,000.

In east Java, Dutch troops striking south from the Probolinggo beachhead and west from the eastern port of Banjoewangi threatened to slice the republic in two by cutting off 2,400 square miles of the island from contact with Republican centers to the west.

The Dutch air offensive was stepped up today. Jogjakarta's airport was bombed at noon again.

An Indonesian bulletin announced the Dutch drive on Cheribon, reporting that a column of 50 armored vehicles, including tanks, was approaching the north coast after driving 55 miles northeast from Bandoeng since Monday.

The Indonesian army reported 15 attacks yesterday on Cheribon by rocket-firing Dutch planes. The Indonesians said they shot down two of the planes.

CHANGES STORY — Six-year-old Roger Gue Jr. (above) is the center of a baby killing mystery at the Massillon, O., city hospital. Roger first admitted that he played with two infant girls in their cribs and dropped them, causing skull fractures which resulted in death. Later he changed his story and told of seeing a "white-coated boy" enter the nursery. The hospital is being sued for $400,000 in the two baby deaths.

VETO SHELVED
ON U. N. DOCKETSharply Opposed Stands
Of United States And Russia Reaffirmed

BY FRANCIS W. CARPENTER

Lake Success, July 23. (P)—United Nations atomic delegates shelved the vital issue of the veto indefinitely today after the United States and Soviet Russia reaffirmed their sharply opposed positions.

Frederick H. Osborn, United States deputy, told the working committee of the United Nations Atomic Energy commission that this country stands firmly behind the principle of no veto on atomic punishments and "will not be a party to any change."

Andre A. Gromyko, Soviet deputy foreign minister, declared that Russia still is behind the veto in the security council; that any attempts to change the present set-up were "doomed to failure."

Other results of the session were:

1. Russia lost a stubborn battle to put the commission on record for an international convention banning the atomic bomb immediately. The majority agreed without a vote that it was more important to set up controls.

2. Gromyko failed in his effort to substitute the Russian plan for the American control plan favored by the commission majority.

One feature of the Soviet plan calls for setting up the control agency to operate within the framework of the security council, where the veto could apply on important and final decisions. The U. S. contends the veto must not apply on any atomic questions.

Sabotage Indicated
In Berlin Station
Blast; Eight Killed

Berlin, July 23. (P)—A mysterious explosion wrecked a large part of German police headquarters in the Russian sector of Berlin today, killing eight persons and injuring nine, and raising the possibility that a sabotage ring was in operation.

The American - licensed newspaper, Der Abend, said a suitcase found in the ruins "leads to the conclusion that a bomb was smuggled into the building" and declared the blast "presumably was the act of saboteurs."

However the explosion occurred in a wing of the building that houses a special police squad charged with the demolition of abandoned munitions and dangerously weakened structures, so the possibility remained that the blast was caused by the accidental detonation of explosives.

Russian authorities would not comment, and police said they were still investigating.

The dead included four German policemen and four workmen.

THREE SOVIET PUPPETS LACK
CIVIL LIBERTYDIPLOMATIC WRAPS
REMOVED IN BLUNT
U. S. CHARGES

BY LARRY HAUCK

Lake Success, July 23. (P)—The United States suddenly removed diplomatic wraps today and bluntly told the United Nations Security Council that Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria were a menace to international peace.

American Deputy Delegate V. Johnson said there was not slightest evidence of civil liberties in the three Soviet satellites and "a dictatorship is a dictatorship no matter what you call it."

Gromyko Aroused

He demanded that the council warn the three nations "to keep order in their own houses and leave other peoples affairs alone" and that they stop interfering in the Balkans affecting the whole world. It was the second time in a U. N. meeting today that diplomatic talk was dropped.

Noting that Johnson had "begun to speak candidly," Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko jumped into the debate to say:

"Bulgaria, Yugoslavia and Albania do not need the advice of the United States on their internal order. If such advice is given from the rostrum of the United Nations, although not asked for, the only explanation is that these authors overestimate the importance of their advice."

Previously Russia's vigorous defense of Albania in a U. N. membership committee touched off one of the strongest personal attacks ever leveled at a Soviet delegate.

Speech Called Junk

Stripping off all diplomatic language, Britain's Valentine G. Lawford, termed a speech by Alexei N. Krastnikov, chief U. N. deputy of Andrei A. Gromyko, "junk" and said it was "deplorable" that U. N. delegates should be subjected to such tirades "day after day."

The United States and Australia quickly joined in lambasting Krastnikov, Soviet delegate to the committee and former minister to Iceland.

Albania has been accused—along with Yugoslavia and Bulgaria—of fomenting Balkan border disorders.

Krastnikov delivered a 30-minute speech castigating the Western powers for their opposition to the admission of Albania and accusing them of attempting to "undermine the young peoples republic of Albania."

He said all the reasons advanced by the United States and Britain were based on "false accusations" and that they were attempting to get the Tirana government to accept conditions dictated by foreign powers. He added that certain powers would not be a man on the Albanian general staff to suppress the democratic element in Albania.

MacDonald crowded a car driven by Elmer Swanson off highway US-2-41 Tuesday night. Two other occupants of the MacDonald car, Louis Gregory and Clyde Buchanan of Marquette, were fined $5 and costs of $8.25.

Bicyclist Hit—James DuBord of Escanaba was hit while riding his bicycle on Ludington street by a car driven by F. B. Myrsten of 630 South 14th street. DuBord was not injured but was taken to a local physician for examination.

Non-Stop Arterial—A fire of Knutsen of 1015 First avenue north was fined a dollar and costs of the same Wednesday for non-stop at an arterial.

Grass Fires Persist—The grass fires burning in muck near the State fairgrounds flared up again yesterday. The fire department was called out twice to extinguish the blazes.

Truck Turns Over—A truck driven by Harold Wiltzie of Escanaba Route One was turned over last night on North 21st street at the corner of Third avenue north. Wiltzie was driving west on North 21st street and swung sharply while turning on North Third avenue. The truck tipped on its right side. Police are holding the driver for further investigation.

POOR OUTLOOK ON BLUEBERRIES

Hopes For Bumper Crop
Fading; Prospect
Only Fair

The latest report on the blueberry crop prospect for 1947 in the Delta county area is not as bright as it was earlier this summer, according to officers at the district headquarters of the conservation office in Escanaba.

"The blueberry crop is not going to be as good as it was anticipated," it was reported.

Housewives will be disappointed by the announcement, because many of them in this first post-war year of unrationed sugar had planned to can many quarts of fruit from the "blue gold harvest." A few blueberries have been seen on the local market at high prices, but the berries in the majority are still far from ripe.

This week the blueberries are beginning to change color from green to red, with a few ripe ones spotted on slopes facing the south. Generally the blueberry crop is from two to three weeks late in ripening.

Last spring because of the continued cold weather and the late flowering of the blueberry plants it was predicted that a bumper crop would result because the blossoms were not nipped by the frost. Now the prospect varies between poor and fair.

Other wild berries, such as raspberries and blackberries, are expected to be plentiful and large unless there is a drought.

Man-Made Shower Arouses Jealousy Of Hopi Dancers

Flagstaff, Arizona, (P)—Hopi snake dancers were described Tuesday as incensed over the white man's invasion of their realm as rainmakers.

Advised that rain was precipitated over Roosevelt dam by dropping dry ice into a cloud from an airplane, Indians declared the rain clouds were actually produced during their southwest powwow ceremonies here July 4.

"We object to white men spilling water out of our clouds that happened to drift south," a spokesman said. "If white men want water, let them do their own dancing and make their own clouds."

CANDIDATE—Harold D. Beaton, 40, who seeks the Democratic nomination for congress in the special 11th district election, was born, educated, and taught schools in this district before entering the legal profession. To earn money to attend Marquette law school he worked in lumber camps.

After completing his education, he engaged in private practice in St. Ignace until elected Prosecutor of Mackinac county in 1934. He was re-elected in 1936, and declined to run for a third term in 1938. Instead he joined the legal staff of the Department of Justice in Washington, D. C. working in the criminal division until war interrupted his career. After the war, he rejoined the department, and then resigned last month to enter the race for congress.

During his service in Washington he was chairman of the most successful party ever held for the disabled veterans at Walter Reed hospital. He is vice-commander of the Department of Justice Post

False Propaganda

WHOLLY untrue stories that the Upper Peninsula is short of gasoline and that tourists coming into the territory are apt to be stranded are emanating from certain points below the Straits. Several instances have been reported of gasoline stations in the Lower Peninsula advising their patrons to stock up on extra cans of gasoline before crossing the straits.

That this propaganda, malicious or otherwise, is detrimental to the Upper Peninsula tourist trade is indicated by reports of some cancellations of cottage and resort reservations as a direct result of these untrue stories.

The truth of the matter is that gasoline supplies in the Upper Peninsula are at least as adequate as they are in the Lower Peninsula and that there appears to be no danger than any motorist will be stranded in the area because of a lack of gasoline.

The gasoline bulk plant at Kipling, which during the war years supplied virtually all of the gasoline distributed by all companies in the Upper Peninsula, reports that the gasoline supply situation is not critical and that there is no cause to fear that motorists, local or tourists, will be unable to meet their motor fuel requirements.

It is true that most gasoline stations are restricted in the quantities of gasoline that will be permitted to buy during the summer months, but that is true not only in the Upper Peninsula but in the Lower Peninsula and in other middle west states as well.

Up to now we have not heard of a single instance where any service station has been without a supply of gasoline. Before the summer is over there may be isolated instances where some stations have exhausted their allotments temporarily, but certainly not all stations in any given area will be out of gasoline at the same time. As a matter of truth, there is reason to doubt that any station will completely exhaust its allotment.

Certainly the situation is not one to cause motoring paralysis and every effort should be made to counteract the detrimental effect of the false propaganda that is emanating from the Lower Peninsula.

War in Indonesia

FULL scale war has broken out in the Netherlands East Indies, which only a few years ago provided the setting for some of the most bitter fighting in the Pacific side of World War II.

This latest outbreak has developed as a result of the Indonesians' understandable desire for independence from the Dutch who have ruled the islands for many years. Unfortunately, the armed revolt developed while negotiations were under way to provide independence to Indonesia by January 1, 1949.

The Indonesian revolt, or "colonial war" as the Indonesians choose to call the uprising, can serve only to focus the world's attention upon the natives' natural desire for freedom from outside rule. The uprising itself is doomed for failure as the natives are inadequately equipped for full scale war while the Dutch have considerable quantities of comparatively modern war equipment, most of it of American manufacture.

The island of Java, where most of the present fighting is in progress, is said to be the most densely populated extensive area in the world. Its area, including small neighboring islands, is about the same as the state of Alabama, but it supports a population of 36,000,000 people, one fourth of the entire population of the United States.

Java and the large island of Sumatra, where fighting also is reported to be in progress, are important for their exports of many essential food products as well as minerals and oil. That the Dutch are reluctant to give up a possession as valuable as this is obvious.

The United Nations now has a full scale war on its hands for settlement and the entire world will watch with great interest to see how the international organization meets this problem.

Warning to America

VICTOR KRAVCHENKO, who formerly served the Russian Communists as a member of the Russian purchasing commission in the United States but who broke with the Red regime because he could not stomach the Communist program, sounded a warning to Americans as a witness before the house committee on un-American activities Tuesday.

Kravchenko declared that the policy of the Russian government was doubled-faced towards its own people, toward its war-time allies, and now toward a new world in creation, a world that looked to the United Nations for salvation from war.

The former Communist, who has an unusual opportunity to witness the workings of Communist policy from the inside, branded the Russian policy as one of "blackmail and lies," hell-bent on splitting the world into two factions, out of which world conflict will inevitably result. Kravchenko's picture of Russia's program blackens the long-range outlook for world peace. We can dismiss his testimony as the result of a disgruntled Communist mind, or we can accept it as sound reasoning by one who has had ample opportunity to evaluate the Russian Communist program. Just a brief study of Communism in action—millions of Russians enslaved in labor camps, neighboring nations seized by Russian military power, and a Russian foreign policy that continually tosses a monkey wrench into every international effort for world understanding—proves that we cannot shrug off Kravchenko's testimony before the house committee.

If Kravchenko is right, the United Nations offers no hope at all as an implement for world peace. Russia's veto authority in the security council serves as an effective block for any constructive action.

Excise Rate Cut Voted

THE bill to wipe out the 20 percent tax on jewelry selling for less than $25 passed the house of representatives Tuesday, showing a disposition of the representatives to reduce some of the wartime excise tax rates, but it is doubtful that the measure will become law at the present session.

Even if the senate concurs with the house on the proposal, it is probable that a presidential veto awaits the bill. In twice rejecting income tax reductions, President Truman said he favored a general study of taxation with the idea of broad tax reforms. The idea seems to be that the president is opposed to any tax reductions now, whether cuts in income rates or in excise taxes. Inasmuch as the president has greater support in the senate, where he himself served before his elevation to the vice presidency and ultimately to the presidency, it is likely that the senate will not go along with the house on this proposal for a cut in excise taxes on jewelry.

It is unfortunate that the house selected inexpensive jewelry as the starting point for reducing excise taxes. These are luxury items which hardly should be singled out for the sole excise tax reductions. Excise taxes on such essentials as automobile parts and automobile tires might better have been selected as a starting point.

On the other hand, it probably doesn't make any appreciable difference because it seems rather certain that the administration is not going to permit tax reductions of any kind in 1947.

GOOD FOR ALL

(Cleveland Plain Dealer)

We have noted before (but the point is worth making again) that the arguments used against the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence seaway cancel each other out.

With perfectly straight faces, the opponents tell us that there is no longer need for the seaway because the type of traffic it is intended to carry is becoming obsolete, then they go on to argue that the project would be unfair to existing transportation facilities and to other regions of the United States because it would take business away from them.

Obviously, they cannot be right on both counts. We are convinced they are wrong on both. Every department of commerce survey has disclosed that if ocean-going bottoms could come freely into the Great Lakes, there are scores of commercial products which would be hauled into and out of this great region of the United States via the waterway. This would reduce the cost to consumers of the goods hauled both ways.

If we believe in progress we must accept this as a desirable accomplishment even if it were to the disadvantage of some minority interests, for our goal must always be the greater good of the greater number.

But the fact is—as the whole history of industry progress demonstrates—that anything which reduces costs must, in the end, benefit everyone. More prosperity in the Great Lakes region will mean more prosperity for the railroads, for it will increase industrial and agricultural production and thus give all forms of transportation more goods to carry.

Every president since Taft has favored the project. It has been blocked by senators from other regions who imagined that their constituents will be in some way harmed. The men in the White House, looking to the best interests of the nation as a whole, have understood that the seaway is needed by all the people of the United States.

Take My Word For It

Frank Colby

WHAT'S THE ORIGIN?

Q. Why do we say "He was fired" when we mean discharged?—C. H. A.

A. The usage dates from Elizabethan days when the verb "to fire" meant "to drive away; to cast off." Shakespeare wrote, "Till my bad angel fire my good one out."

Q. How did automobile tires get their name, and is it true that wartime rationing of tires was predicted by the Bible?—Mrs. J. W. P.

A. The word tire is a shortened (aphetic) form of the word attire which originally meant equipment, ornamentation. The tire was first so called because it was an iron hoop which covered (attired) the wheel.

As to the Biblical reference to tire rationing, someone started that story about six days ago, quoting Isaiah 3:18: "In that day the Lord will take away . . . their round tires like the moon."

In archaic usage, tire was a common term for a woman's ornamental headdress, especially a tiara or circlet. This is what is meant in the quotation. Here is the

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington—Like father, like son. That old saw has often been applied to Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio and his illustrious father, the late William Howard Taft, who achieved the unique distinction of becoming both President and Chief Justice of the United States.

Childs

Striking similarities are not hard to find. The son has the same remarkable capacity for hard work that was one of his father's chief qualities. In the session of Congress now ending, Sen. Taft has done the work of three men, moving tirelessly through the routine of committees, party leadership and strategy on the senate floor.

His name is now attached to the most important piece of legislation to come out of the seven-month session—the Taft-Hartley act. Whether this has helped him or hurt him as a presidential candidate is debatable. To organized labor he is a fiend incarnate. To many middle-class Americans he is a hero.

—UNCERTAIN ABOUT PRESTIGE—

Taft is a little uncertain himself as to his standing in the country. With typical forthrightness, he intends to try to find out after Congress adjourns.

But first he will go for at least a month of vacation to the Taft summer home at Murray Bay in Quebec. At Murray Bay, two generations of Tafts, and now a third, have rested and relaxed, away from the glare of public office.

In early September, the Senator will go out to the Pacific coast. He will speak on September 13 before the California Bar Association at Santa Cruz, Cal. Presumably, there will be other speaking engagements.

On this trial run, Taft will determine what his chances are. His friends say that, far more than most politicians, he has a capacity for self-appraisal. And, if he decides that, as the popularity polls would seem to indicate, his standing is not high, then he will take himself out of the race definitely and finally.

Like his father before him, the Senator is inherently a conservative. I have been reading Henry Pringle's fascinating biography of the elder Taft. That suggests a remarkable parallel in the two careers.

As William Howard Taft became a reluctant candidate for the presidency, largely at the prompting of his friend Theodore Roosevelt, he was fearful that his labor record would thwart him. As a judge in Cincinnati, Taft had angered labor by several of his decisions. He took a strong line in the bitter days of the Pullman strike in Chicago, when conservative and propped men were sure that Communism was just around the corner.

—WORRIED ABOUT LABOR—

The elder Taft's letters show how alarmed he was and how insistent on putting down the "Anarchists" who were striking against a well-intentioned employer. Then as he succumbed to the presidential ambition, Taft worried for fear that labor would veto his chances.

Pringle brings out one aspect of the elder Taft's career that raises him above most men in public life today. That was his patient, unflinching devotion to a thankless task that happened to be of primary importance to America's position before the world.

After the Spanish-American war, his friend, Teddy Roosevelt, sent Taft out to the Philippines at the head of a committee to bring order and civil rule to the Islands. The job called for endless patience and perseverance, tact, diplomacy and just plain grit.

Taft displayed all these qualities. Back home the romance of our first imperial adventure was wearing thin. Congress wanted to economize. People were bored with the Philippines and their troubles. But our pro-consul in remote Manila stuck to his task even though high appointive office was dangled before his eyes.

He won the love and respect of the Philippine people. Although he was convinced they were not ready for independence, he initiated the first steps in self-government and prepared the way for an independent state which has been such a powerful example throughout the Orient.

If there were more men today with that kind of devotion to public duty, it would not be nearly so difficult to fulfill our obligations around the world. The quality which led the elder Taft to assume burdensome responsibility in a far-distant foreign field—one in which the political rewards seemed non-existent—is a quality the son might emulate. And so might a great many other Americans who aspire to public office and public trust. The need is far greater now than it was at the turn of the century, when the elder Taft went out to labor in Manila's humid heat.

complete verse, which refers to the haughty daughters of Zion who "walk with stretched forth necks and wanton eyes, walking and mincing as they go, and making a tinkling with their feet";

"In that day the Lord will take away the bravery of their tinkling ornaments about their feet, and their cauls, and their round tires like the moon."

Q. What is the origin of the word easel, as used by painters?—C. B. L.

A. Dutch painters used to refer humorously to an easel as "ezel," a German word which means "donkey." The word for donkey is esel, and it also designates a frame with legs.

In French an easel is called chevalet (literally a little horse). In Spanish an easel is called caballete, from caballo, "horse."

All these words are comparable with the English sawhorse which grotesquely resembles a horse with spraddled legs. We also speak of a clotheshorse which, literally, is a four-legged frame on which clothes are aired or dried. Figuratively, a clotheshorse is a person who makes a fetish of fine clothes.

NICHOLAS COPERNICUS—We herewith offer our apologies to Nicholas Copernicus, although he has been dead for nearly 500 years. We do this because we reported in a column a few days ago: "Copernicus said the earth was the center of the universe and he was believed for a thousand years."

An Escanaba gentleman directed our attention to that error, perpetrated while we were wool-gathering over the typewriter and thinking more about perch fishing than astronomy.

While we're setting the record straight about Copernicus we might give you a little information about astronomy, although we admit to a very limited knowledge of the stars, having observed more of the movie variety in all their glory than the heavenly bodies.

IT WAS PTOLEMY—It was Ptolemy, an Egyptian of the second century A. D., who said the earth was the center of the universe. And he was believed for one thousand years, but for more than one thousand two hundred years—until Copernicus disproved him.

Ptolemy's universe not only had the earth as its center, but he made the earth an immovable globe. Ptolemy enclosed the universe in a hollow sphere and in the walls of the sphere he set the stars. Inside the sphere he placed, at different distances, the sun, the moon, and the five planets then known—Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn.

The earth spins on its axis but Ptolemy did not know this. Otherwise he would not have been so impressed when he saw the Great Dipper slowly turn about the North Star.

PEOPLE NOT READY—Early in the sixteenth century, Copernicus, a Pole, became convinced that the doctrines of Ptolemy were almost entirely wrong, and that the sun is the center about which the earth and the planets revolve. But, as in the time of Pythagoras, he had earlier come to the same conclusion, people were not ready to believe such teachings.

Somewhat this business of astronomy had gotten all mixed up with religion, and astronomers who attempted to set Ptolemy straight were looked upon as doubting not only Ptolemy but God.

MAN OF SCIENCE—Copernicus was born in Poland in 1473, a date that is lost in most history books. Children remember the date 1492 "Columbus sailed the ocean blue" much better, although the voyages of Columbus were relatively insignificant. For Copernicus gave to the world the basis of modern astronomy, while all that has been claimed (and disputed) is that Columbus "discovered" a continent that had been discovered before. The discovery made by the astronomer Copernicus was vastly more important to the future of mankind.

After spending several years in the study of medicine, Copernicus devoted himself to the study of mathematics, toward which he had a natural leaning. The study of astronomy soon enthralled him and he taught mathematics with great success.

In 1505 he left Rome, where Rapid City, S. D.—The federal treasury will be opened by President Coolidge for funds to repair the broken dikes of the Mississippi river but he has reached no decision on another recommendation of Secretary Hoover to have the government help meet interest and amortization charges on levee bonds in the devastated area.

New York—Six of the crew, brought ashore for questioning by federal authorities, added their versions today to the tale of the schooner Kingsway whose log of murder, lust, mutiny and hunger out-thrills many a salty yarn spun by romancing skippers in the glamorous old slave trade, wind-lamming days.

much of his fame had been gained, and returned to his native country. Entering Holy Orders he became a canon in the Cathedral of Frauenburg, an office he held until his death.

AND OF COURAGE—The observations made by Copernicus convinced him that previous astronomers were wrong when they held to the Ptolemaic principle—that the earth was the center of the universe. His discoveries were not at once given to the world, however. He feared the criticism and hostility of the Church, for a hint of his discoveries had brought forth the accusation that he was proceeding in a task that was opposed to the Scriptures.

In those days the majority of the astronomers held blindly to the doctrine of Ptolemy regarding the universe, disregarding or explaining away new information that cast doubt upon it. If an astronomer such as Copernicus persisted in his "disbelief" he was accused of working against God.

When the great work of Copernicus was published and appeared, explaining his theories and discoveries, it was dedicated to the Pope in the hope of gaining his sanction.

THE WORK GOES ON—Copernicus achieved imperishable fame but he did not live to realize it. Within a few hours after receiving a copy of his publication he died. The year was 1543 and Copernicus was an old man of 70.

Within the next two centuries lived four great astronomers whose work was based to a considerable degree upon the discoveries of Copernicus. They were Brahe, Galileo, Kepler and Newton. They made many valuable observations and discovered several of the fundamental laws, in-

Q. Is a veteran of Mexican Border service entitled to a pension when he reaches 65?

A. Mexican Border service is considered a peace time service and there are no provisions for pension to such veterans because of age. Such veterans are eligible only for compensation for service-connected disabilities.

Q. Has the U. S. railroad fleet been gaining or losing?

A. In 12 months the total railroad fleet (excluding private car lines and industrials) dropped from 1,812,271 units to 1,798,695 units—a loss of 13,576 units. The Class I fleet declined from 1,770,832 units to 1,746,721 units—a loss of 24,111 units.

Q. Can you tell me how to remove an old paint stain from a child's dress?

A. Saturate the stain with turpentine, then roll until the paint loosens. Retouch with turpentine and launder.

Q. Is the new B-50 faster than the B-29?

A. It cruises 27 per cent faster than the B-29 and is approximately 30 miles faster than any other Army bomber capable of equal range.

Q. What was "Le Taae"?

A. It was a plague of strange character which appeared in Paris in 1411. It was marked by loss of appetite, insomnia, a trembling of the limbs and a violent cough night and day. It lasted for three weeks, when the sufferer bled profusely, then recovered. No one died.

Q. What were the "superlappers"?

A. They believed that God through all eternity had decreed the fall of man. On the other hand, they maintained that God did not foreordain nor predetermine the fall, but only permitted it—that Adam had been free to stand and free to fall.

cluding the law of gravitation.

Because of the faithful work of these men and those who followed them, astronomers now know to a surprising extent how the material universe is arranged. They have even found that the sun is not, as Copernicus believed, the center of all creation. For beyond the range of our eyes in every direction there are suns upon suns, almost past counting. It was Copernicus who broke the chains that bound men's minds to an earth-centered universe.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Washington — Bull-headed Ways and Mean Chairman Harold Knutson, who has a habit of acting first and consulting his committee afterward, recently stepped out too far. Without a word to the committee or authorization from anyone, he appointed a special tax-study group, largely composed of Wall Street lobbyists, and generously promised that the government would pay all their expenses.

But at a closed-door meeting the other day, the bumbling Minnesotan awkwardly begged the committee's forgiveness. "I exceeded my authority," he blurted. "I apologize to the committee."

Then he asked the committee to approve resolutions belatedly authorizing both his appointments to the tax-study group, and $25,000 for their expenses. A few stubborn Democrats, however, long annoyed over Knutson's arbitrary manner, balked.

"By what authority did you appoint this advisory committee?" pressed Rhode Island's Aime Forand. "Technically I didn't have any," Knutson reddened. "I acted too hastily."

"It reminds me," he added weakly, "of the old saw, better late than never." "Well, Harold, it looks like you're going to have to dig into your own jeans," needed another Democrat.

Forand pointed out that most of Knutson's appointees already had testified at committee hearings and favored exactly the same tax legislation advocated by big business.

"I fail to see why we need to pay $25,000," he declared, "when we already have their views on record."

When Knutson made it plain that he intended to make no changes in the advisory group, Forand snapped: "This is merely a case of legalizing an illegal act taken several weeks ago."

After the discussion simmered down, Knutson turned to the committee and spoke humbly: "It's up to you. I want you fellows to decide."

The committee decided, 18-4, to "Save Face" for their chairman.

Here are some of the tax advisers for whom the taxpayers will now pay $25,000 for advice on future taxes: Roswell Magill, Wall Street tax lawyer; John L. Connolly, counsel for the Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co.; Cheever Cowdin, chairman Universal Pictures and Transcontinental Air Transport; Carson Duncan, the American Association of Railroads; John Hanes, director of Pan American Airways; Sperry Gyroscope, Johns-Mansville, U. S. Lines, Bankers Trust, and American Superpower.

—TRUMAN LOVES—

In Harry Truman's make-up runs a queer mixture of great magnanimity and petty vindictiveness. He can be as big-hearted and forgiving as a Latter Day Saint, but he can also remember personal grudges even more diligently than Franklin Roosevelt.

For instance, most people who read the fulsome praise Truman heaped on Bob Patterson when he resigned as secretary of war did not know that at one time Truman was so sore at Patterson he advised Roosevelt to fire him as undersecretary.

Truman's ire especially surged over the Canol Oil project in Alaska which Truman regarded as wanton waste, and which Patterson staunchly defended. Newsmen who talked to Truman about Canol and its army backers remember vividly how he boiled over.

Truman also hit the ceiling when he discovered the army was covering up cracked airplane cylinders manufactured by Curtiss-Wright near Cincinnati. And when Patterson, who was in charge of all army production, tried to defend the brass hats and explain away the cracked cylinders, the then Senator from Missouri seethed with indignation.

There was almost nothing too harsh for him to say about Patterson—at that time.

Last week, however, as Patterson stepped out of office Harry Truman, forgetting the past, turned on the magnanimity. "It is hard for me to find proper words to describe your service to your country," he wrote. "It has been magnificent. I saw a great deal of your work when I was head of the Senate committee to investigate the national defense program . . . How well you acquitted yourself!"

—TRUMAN HATES—

The reverse side of Harry Truman is illustrated in his pettiness toward ex-Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes. It is generally agreed that no civilian did a better job on the home front than Ickes' handling of gasoline, oil and coal. Furthermore his almost single-handed stand to safeguard the nation's tidelands oil has now been vindicated by the supreme court.

However, because Ickes fought Truman's personal friend, Ed Pauley, over the Tidelands Oil case, and resigned as a result—

Mrs. Claire Van Doren Writes To Forget Ills

If you are feeling sorry for yourself because of petty inconveniences and disappointments, you will be ashamed of yourself if you ever meet Mrs. W. J. Van Doren, whose address is Last Resort, Masonville, Mich. For Mrs. Van Doren, who was known as Claire James, the poor crippled girl in Rapid River about three decades ago, has gone through "almost everything," but still today she is the most cheerful and inspiring person one could ever meet.

Born in Rapid River in 1902, Claire suffered an accident when only nine years old, the first of a long series of misfortunes that have plagued her throughout her life, but from which she has emerged unbeaten. At 45 she possesses the enthusiasm of a bobby soxer, a winning smile and a consuming ambition to attain a successful writing career.

Actually, one might say that she is a successful writer already, for in the past 10 years she has won at least one thousand prizes with her limericks, slogans, recipes, testimonials and personal experience stories. She has gotten seven radios, three wrist watches, a canary, shirts, necklaces and no end of food products and other merchandise in radio, magazines and newspaper contests. In addition, she has been awarded about a dozen cash prizes, ranging from $25 to $100 each, and scores of one, two and five dollar checks.

Fell Off Straw Stack

A group of children were playing on some stacks of straw on the old Boudah place in Rapid River back in 1911. Claire jumped from one of the stacks and in falling to the ground bruised her shins. She thought nothing of it, but a few weeks later her right leg began to pain and swell. She had osteomyelitis.

The late Dr. A. L. Laing, who operated a hospital in Rapid River then, took an interest in the afflicted girl. As her mother was a poor widow, Dr. Laing allowed her to stay in the hospital for many months without charging a cent.

"Dr. Laing was just grand to me," Mrs. Van Doren recalled. "When he opened his new hospital in Escanaba, he took me there as his first patient."

From the time she was nine years old until she was 25, Claire underwent a total of 27 operations on her right leg. Finally, it was necessary to amputate it near the hip. About a year later, while she was returning to Minneapolis to have some readjustments made to her artificial limb, she met Mr. Van Doren on the train. He assisted her in getting to her destination in Minneapolis, and out of the meeting grew a friendship that culminated in marriage some months later.

Mr. Van Doren worked for 18 years as a retail sales promoter for the Kelly Sales company and later

J. H. Voll of Minneapolis. Came the depression in the 30's and the bottom fell out of the business. Retail stores were no longer interested in hiring specialists to put on sales. Mr. Van Doren was laid off, and times were tough. Claire had learned how to make artificial flowers as a means of occupying herself during the long months spent in hospitals. She began making flowers for a living.

"We took our last dollar to buy materials for the flowers," Mrs. Van Doren said, with a smile. "For 13 years I made flowers, 15 to 20 dozen a day, and Van went out and sold them all. His sales experience certainly came in handy."

Last Resort
Because of her poor health, the making of artificial flowers became too arduous for Mrs. Van Doren, and as a last resort she and her husband decided to start life anew at the scene of her childhood days. They moved into the old family home in Masonville, repaired what was once a lumber company house and have remained there since except for a brief residence at West Allis, Wis. Mr. Van Doren is now traveling the Upper Peninsula territory selling nursery stock, while Mrs. Van Doren does the housekeeping and gardening, and devotes what leisure time she has to her contest work.

While she was making flowers, Claire used to listen to the programs on an old battery radio set. She heard an announcement concerning the Pabstett cheese contest, in which contestants were asked to submit a limerick of 25 words or less. She decided to try it. She tore off a cheese box top and sent in this entry: "Whether my guests be rich or poor, I feel assured, I'm serving the best, when I serve Pabstett cheese." It won a prize—a chromium cheese and cracker server.

She became all excited about contests and sent in entries almost daily. But she didn't win anything for a year. Finally, she got back into the swing of it, and copied prizes at frequent intervals. Over a period of 10 years, she probably has won about $2500 in cash and merchandise.

Mrs. Van Doren used to write the radio commercials for her husband when he was engaged in retail sales promotion work. This experience has proved helpful in her writing of prize winning testimonials and slogans, which have been used in the national advertising of well known products. Catchy slogans won for her three vacation trips to summer resorts in the Minnesota lakes region.

Happy Childhood Memories
Her greatest thrill has come from the recognition she twice received on Walt Mason's "Tell Your Neighbor" program on the Mutual radio network. The first was a response to Walt's request for letters on the subject, "My Happiest Childhood Memory."

"I wrote about my first Christmas in the hospital after I hurt my leg," Claire reminisced. "The head nurse, now Mrs. L. E. Scott of Rapid River, asked me a couple of weeks before Christmas if I wanted to write a letter to Santa Claus."

"I wrote the letter and it appeared in the Escanaba Mirror. I still can remember the words: 'Dear Santa—All I want is some candy, nuts and a doll. There is something else I want, Santa, but I know you couldn't give it to me—a new leg.'"

On Christmas eve, the nurse came into Claire's room several times, but found her awake. Finally, she feigned sleep, and watch members of the hospital staff bring in a screen to obstruct her view.

"But there was a light on the other side of the screen and I could see their silhouettes moving to and fro," Mrs. Van Doren recalled, describing the scene as if it still gave her the same childhood joy. "I watched the shadowy figures bring in a Christmas tree. Then, they hurried around it, hanging up trimmings and presents. I fell asleep, and when I woke up I thought I was in fairyland. The tree was beautiful, and all around it were presents for me—a wheel chair, dolls, clothes, candies, pearls, money and other gifts from people all over the country."

More recently, Mrs. Van Doren received a wrist watch from Walt Mason for a prize winning letter about "A Happy Childhood Experience."

"It was a humorous little piece about the Fourth of July," she explained. "Years ago, there was a kindly old man who sold firecrackers at his stand in Escanaba. The kids used to like to hear him talk with his Italian accent, and they would keep asking him questions about his firecrackers. 'Now dees one, he make a bigga noise, and dees Roman candle make a bigga light,' Tony would say."

Perhaps, those happy childhood memories, even though they were few, have helped Mrs. Van Doren to retain that youthful spirit and courage that have carried her on through years of adversity.

"Not Responsible For Wife's Debts"

A young man came rushing into the Clarion office the other day and wanted me to print an ad—"right quick"—saying he won't be responsible for his wife's debts from now on, as he's leaving her for good immediately.

I allowed as how the forms were all closed up, and it was too late to take his ad. He says: "All right, Monday then"—and we agreed on Monday.

Of course, the forms weren't closed. But I had kind of an inkling of what might happen. Then Sunday he phones me, and says, kind of sheepishly: "You can forget that ad. Me and the missus have everything all patched up. And we're having a friendly glass of beer, right now."

From where I sit, if you give folks time enough to think things over, those hasty quarrels that come so often from misunderstanding will give way to tolerance and common sense.

Betsy Ross

THE OLD FASHIONED BREAD

with the ALL-GRAIN flavor

Food has always been a weapon of war. Victory depends upon many things—a righteous cause, the will to win, weapons and the physical strength, stamina and good health of a nation. ☞ Today—as in the days of Betsy Ross, who designed the Stars and Stripes, the fields of golden grain are as important as the iron and coal and the cause of freedom. Today, when free men once again proved their right to liberty by force of arms—the health and well-being of our people is one of our great national resources. ☞ To many busy women of today Betsy Ross Bread is the corner-stone of every family meal. Enriched with vitamins and iron according to U.S. Government Standards, it gives your family much of the energy and vitality needed in these tense times. Tender-cruised—fine texture—delicious all-grain flavor. Delivered to your grocer—oven-fresh—every day.

AUTHOR AT WORK—George Victor Martin, author of the novel, "Our Vines Have Tender Grapes," has returned to his "shack" at Nahma, along the shore of Big Bay de Noquet, where he is mixing writhing with vacationing. Martin acquired a tar-paper covered house in Nahma, and has transformed it into an attractive studio, with fluorescent lighting and other modern fixtures. Since "Our Vines Have Tender Grapes" was produced as a movie, with Edward G. Robinson, Butch Jenkins and Margaret O'Brien as co-stars, the book sales have run upwards of 50,000 copies. It has been printed in the Swedish, Norwegian, Great Britain, French and Spanish editions.

AUTHOR AT MORE WORK — Besides doing his own cooking, Martin saws wood in his spare time to keep the kitchen stove warm. He recently received the galley proofs of his latest novel, "Mark It With A Stone," which will be published in October by Frederick Fell, Inc., New York. When not in Nahma, Martin lives with his sister in Northbrook, Ill., small town just outside Chicago. Martin has had a varied career. He has been a house painter, shipping clerk, printer, stevedore, amateur boxer and encyclopedia editor. He was first attracted to Nahma when he served on the Nahma Vacation School faculty in 1941.

Sally: Good luck, Sammy—here's hoping we make a hit here like we did in California.

Sammy: What a success story we can tell. Remember how folks cleaned out the grocers' shelves in Los Angeles? They said our extra nourishment made us a real economy.

Sally: And how children called for more in Pasadena? Our food value helped 'em keep on their toes.

Sammy: We're a perfect pair, sweetheart. When folks in San Francisco found out how we could brighten their breakfast, we became their favorite cereal.

Here's a just-married pair you'll delight in meeting at your breakfast table—Sally Corn, the flavor and energy queen, and Sammy Soya, the prominent protein, in Kellogg's Corn-Soya, a toasty, crisp, new ready-to-eat cereal.

Kellogg's spent twenty years of work and experiment to get the right combination...they've joined together glorious flavor and food value in a way that's deliciously new.

Corn-Soya stays crunchy in milk, helps you give your family the get-up-and-go they need for the work or play. The protein value of one ounce (about 3/4 cup) of Corn-Soya with four ounces of milk equals that of one egg with three slices of bacon. Get Corn-Soya at your grocer's today.

NEGRO VETERAN TO GET $3,200

Kiwanis Club Presents
Cash To Farmer Who Won Cadillac

Ahoksie, N. C., July 23 (AP)—They're going to give Harvey Jones a check for $3,200 tomorrow.

Jones is the 23-year-old Negro war veteran who held the winning ticket in the Ahoskie Kiwanis club's raffle for a $3,200 Cadillac recently but who was denied the prize because Negroes were barred from the dance at which the drawing was held.

But tomorrow luck is finally catching up with the struggling young farmer. Club officials, eager to make amends for the incident—termed by them a "misunderstanding"—voted today to reward him with money instead of the car.

The change in prizes is strictly according to Jones' wishes. Told last week that the club—spurred on by a rising tide of protests from all over the nation—had reconsidered its decision, he looked around his tiny farm in this northeastern North Carolina-Virginia borderline community and decided a big shiny car would be out-of-place.

"I'd just as soon have cash if possible," he told newsmen. So tomorrow a group of local and international Kiwanis officials will descend on Jones' home and present him the check.

Erie, Pa., Deluged By Storm; Homes Of 100 Padlocked

Erie, Pa., July 23 (AP)—City officials, studying reports of loss in the record-breaking storm which deluged this city with more than nine inches of rain, tonight revised damage estimates upward to somewhere between $3,000,000 and $5,000,000.

Earlier they had said flood damage would be "more than $1,000,000." They added, however, that it likely will be several days before an accurate summing-up of the damage can be made.

Most of the 100 persons made temporarily homeless by water which ran two or three feet deep in scores of streets, were taken care of in private homes tonight. Only five families remained in the emergency barracks set up in city hall annex.

Clarence K. Puffin, co-chairman of the City Disaster committee, said the state emergency decreed

Priest Backs Communist Objectives In Slovakia

BY DANIEL DE LUCE
Bratislava, Slovakia, (AP)—A Catholic priest with a Communist party membership card in his pocket is fighting today in Slovakia to distribute 1,000,000 acres of church land to the peasants.

Father Jozef Straka, who won four medals for bravery in the revolution against the Germans in 1944, maintains that his post-war Communism violates no church dogma and in no way alters his faith.

"The Communist party is the largest in Czechoslovakia, the Prime Minister is a Communist, and yet the Vatican maintains friendly diplomatic relations with the government in Prague," he told an interviewer. "Why, then, should I be more pious than his Holiness, the Pope?"

Some 35 of the 2,000 priests in Slovakia, Father Straka said, have followed his example and espoused Communism.

"I did it," he added, "after yesterday, would be lifted soon. Some of the evacuees, returning to their flooded homes today, found the water gone, but the buildings padlocked by order of the city."

Supply Of Blood Plasma Exhausted

Munising—George Goss, chairman of the Alger county chapter Red Cross has announced that at present there is no blood plasma in the local chapter's blood bank and added that the chapter has an outstanding debt of 7 units which they owe to the University of Michigan hospital.

The low condition of the blood plasma bank was attributed to the fact that a blood donors clinic was not held here last year and that the surplus of 163 units collected from donors in 1945 has been consumed.

Referring to the seven units owed to the University of Michigan hospital, Mr. Goss said that an Alger county medical case had been hospitalized at the University hospital some time ago and that at that time, the hospital used seven units of blood in treatment of the patient. The chapter hopes to repay the hospital these units from donation of blood received in the forthcoming blood donors clinic, Goss added.

Both Mr. Goss and A. M. Stebler, chairman of the blood donors clinic, urge all persons and organizations to contribute to the clinic which will be held in Munising Aug. 25 and 26. All blood donated will be used in Alger county cases, they remarked.

The clinic will be operated here by the American Red Cross chapter in cooperation with the Michigan Health dept.

Munising-Alger County Queen Contest

Sponsored by the

Munising Chamber of Commerce

I nominate

as my choice for Queen to represent Munising and Alger county in the U. P. State Fair Queen Contest in Escanaba on Tuesday, Aug. 19, 1947.

Mail or bring ballots to Chamber of Commerce at Munising.

All ballots must be in before 5 p. m. on Monday, Aug. 11.

Queen will be chosen from these nominations by the C of C board of directors on August 11.

ceiving a letter from my superior Bishop Andrej Skrabik of Banska Bystrica, who wrote me in August, 1945, that he had not told me not to take part in the Slovak uprising against the Nazis and he would not tell me not to join the Communists."

As the leading clergyman to enter their movement, Father Straka was promptly appointed by the Communists to be general director of Catholic cultural affairs in the Slovak state school system.

He left a rich parish with an income of 15,000 crowns (300 dollars) a month to take the government job at a 66 per cent reduction in salary. Here he has waged a campaign to dispossess the church of its agricultural holdings, put all priests on the government payroll as full-time employees and divide the land so that "poor peasants will be able to support larger families."

A strange political phenomenon to western minds, Father Straka's explanation of his personal approach to Communism might even raise an eyebrow or two in Moscow.

"No Roman Catholic priest could agree with the ideology of the Communist party, and I reject it," he said. "But its political program is acceptable so I support it."

"It has done nothing to harm the church in my country. There is no separation of church and state. The church is receiving more financial help from the government than ever before in history. Governmental goodwill is manifested in every way."

"As a Slavonic priest, I welcome the Slavonic tendencies of the Communist party and its efforts for the integration of eastern European culture."

"I welcome its social program, because I am an advocate of social justice."

"Since I do not agree with Communist ideology, I try by friendly means to preserve the freedom of the church. If the Communist party, in the future, seeks to put its ideology into practice, then as a priest I would surely disavow the party."

At 43, with sandy hair, horn-rimmed spectacles and gray business suit, he looks as prosaic as a corner druggist. But he started his Communist career far back in 1941 the year that Russia was invaded, by joining an illegal underground resistance movement to the government of another Slovak priest, Father Josef Tiso.

All of Father Straka's family fought the Germans in 1944. His brother, an army officer, was hanged by the Wehrmacht.

The priest's father was shot. A second brother's house was burned.

A year later, Father Straka was formally issued membership card No. 93,294 in the Slovak Communist party, although he said he considered he had been in the party from the very beginning of his underground work in 1941.

Asked if he agreed with the hanging sentence passed upon Father Tiso and executed last spring, he nodded.

"Justice was done 100 percent," he said. "Tiso could have saved his life if he had been repentant. But he told the court he would do the same thing again, if he had his life to live over—collaborate with Nazism and fight against Communism."

Chicago Sun Owner Outlines Offer To Buy Daily Times

Chicago, July 23 (AP)—Marshall Field, publisher of the Chicago Sun, announced today he had offered to buy the Chicago Daily Times, afternoon tabloid, "to expand my Chicago newspaper interest."

Field said he had offered $60 a share for the stock of the Times, and that Richard J. Finnegan, publisher of the Times, and two of his associates, "are agreeable to that price" and were transmitting Field's proposal to their fellow stockholders.

The Sun's publisher stated he hoped to publish the Sun in the morning, the Times in the afternoon, and a Sun-Times on Sunday. All would be in tabloid form. Field currently has no interests in Chicago's afternoon newspaper field. The Sun is a morning newspaper.

Sleepy Cargo Man Locked In Baggage As Plane Stowaway

Chicago, July 23 (AP)—David Renning, 19-year-old airline cargo handler, who inadvertently stowed away on a flight to New York yesterday, was advised by the airline today that he still had his job provided there were no more "incidents of this kind."

Renning spent nearly three hours locked in the forward baggage compartment of a four-engine Trans-World Airways plane. The compartment was pitchblack. It was cramped. It was also cold.

He explained he had loaded some baggage into the plane, then had crawled into the freight compartment and "then I fell asleep."

He awoke soon afterward to hear the engines roaring for the takeoff. The compartment was locked. Soon the plane was cruising at 19,000 feet, where the outside air temperature was considerably below zero. David was cold, although the compartment was partially heated by warm air from the pilot's cabin, directly above it.

When ramp supervisors noted Renning's absence, they radioed the plane's pilot. The pilot, Capt. Andrew McIlwraith, assured them the youth could breathe, since the compartment was pressurized like the cabin, but said it was impossible to extricate Renning until the plane landed.

A shivering, scared David was released from his perch in New York and placed aboard a return plane to Chicago—this time with benefit of blankets, a seat, and sympathetic stewards.

In Chicago, B. Joyner, TWA station manager, said "We have reprimanded the young man but will not fire him."

Admiral McIntire To Direct National RC Blood Bank Program

Washington, D. C.—Vice Admiral Ross T. McIntire, wartime Surgeon General of the U. S. Navy, and formerly White House physician, has been named director of the new National Blood Program of the American Red Cross. The appointment was announced yesterday by Basil O'Connor, the organization's president.

Recently approved as a Red Cross activity by its Board of Governors, the long-range program contemplates the provision of blood and its derivatives, without charge for the products, to the entire nation.

Dr. McIntire will have supervision of the most far-reaching health program in the peacetime history of the Red Cross, Mr. O'Connor said. It is being undertaken, he pointed out, in direct response to the urgent need of the medical profession for blood in saving of life as well as in treatment and prevention of disease.

At the program's peak an estimated 3,700,000 blood donations will be required annually. Mr. O'Connor said this would necessitate establishment of strategically located centers where procurement of blood can be carried on under scientifically controlled conditions.

Price Of Gasoline Raised Downstate By Standard Oil Co.

New York, July 23 (AP)—Standard Oil Co. of Indiana today announced a series of price increases for Indiana, Nebraska, and Lower Michigan, effective Friday.

Indiana consumer and tank wagon prices on furnace and range oils will be advanced 3/10 of a cent per gallon, 6/10 of a cent on kerosene, 1/2 cent on power fuels, and 4/10 of a cent on three automobile gasolines.

High speed diesel fuel will be reduced 2/10 of a cent and various naphthas will be cut 1/10 of a cent.

The only change involved in Nebraska is an increase of 1/2 cent on tractor fuel.

Lower Michigan tank wagon prices and consumer prices are increased 1/2 cent per gallon on three grades of gasoline, kerosene, furnace oils, range oils, power oils, and all diesel fuels with the exception of high speed diesel.

State Bond Issue May Cover Costs Of Veterans Bonus

Lansing, July 23 (AP)—The $270,000,000 authorized in a constitutional amendment last fall for payment of the state veterans bonus today appeared as if it would cover the entire bill.

This was disclosed by State Treasurer D. Hale Brake, who added that the estimate is based on World War I experience when eight per cent of the eligible veterans failed to claim their bonuses.

Brake said bonus payments are expected to total $232,000,000, while administrative costs are estimated at $1,250,000 and interest at $35,000,000.

Interest rate of the first $200,000,000 issue of bonds will bring interest costs on that amount to $30,420,000. Brake added that an additional $30,000,000 in bonds will be issued after Sept. 1 and that "by then we will know better where we stand."

He said processing of bonus claims had presently "hit its stride" with $2,500,000 in bonuses being paid out daily and 100,000 claims per month being processed. As of July 18, he said, 460,000 veterans had applied for bonuses.

Quarterly Sales Tax Split Gives $45,949 To Delta

Lansing, July 23 (AP)—Distribution of a total of $7,096,431, representing the second quarterly payment of one-sixth of the sales tax to townships, cities and villages was announced today by Auditor General Muriel K. Aten.

The money was sent to county treasurers for distribution to municipalities on a population basis. The previous payment of the sales revenue, ordered under the sales tax diversion amendment, totaled $8,410,585.

Aten said an amount matching the present payment will be distributed shortly to the school districts.

Sales tax totals received by counties included: Delta $45,949, Kent $332,556, Wayne $2,271,091.

State Police Trap Three Pontiac Men As Cattle Rustlers

Clinton, Mich., July 23 (AP)—Three Pontiac men were arrested by state police today for investigation of thefts of three prize heifers valued at $8,000 near Port Huron Monday.

Cpl. Carl Miller of the Clinton post said the men admitted three other thefts of cattle in Tuscola county which netted them about $400 for seven head at a slaughter house near Lake Orion.

The state police officer said the three prize heifers were sold for slaughter for $350.

He identified the three men as Robert J. Wilson, 18, Leon Lewis Wilson, 22, and Leland C. Beyett, 23. They were taken to Lenawee county jail and held without charge pending arrival of Tuscola county officers.

Jet-Burner Steam Motor Is Success Installed In Truck

South Bend, Ind. (AP)—A steam-powered truck, described by its manufacturer as "the first completely successful engine for highway vehicles," was demonstrated here today.

The truck, which derived its power from a revolutionary jet burner was demonstrated by W. C. Miner, a Mishawaka manufacturer and F. Harold Lee, his chief engineer.

The jet burner used in the truck was perfected only six months ago by Calvin D. MacCracken, an eastern inventor. Miner said he has purchased from the inventor exclusive rights to use the jet burner in highway vehicles.

Miner said plans for manufacturing steam-propelled trucks still were indefinite.

The burner, invented for use in furnaces, uses almost any type of liquid fuel. Steam generated by it enters a small four-cylinder engine connected directly to the truck's axle.

Miner said the steam also operates a small auxiliary engine to run the generator and water pump. Oil introduced into the steam lubricates the engine.

Missing Bets

As has been usual in the past, most entries in the Daily Press Fishing Contest this year have been in the walleye, northern pike, rainbow and brook trout classes. Because of the large numbers of anglers who seek these fish that is probably natural.

However, in case too much emphasis has been placed on those fish generally thought of as the gamier species, anglers are reminded that the contest is aimed at searching the largest of a number of species which do not grow to very great size. The sunfish, bluegills, rock bass and perch are examples. Even the bullheads that so many youngsters delight in catching on these summer evenings, rate a prize for the largest entered.

Entries in the bass classes and the brown trout and lake trout classes have not yet reached any great numbers. That is a condition that poses no threat to the records, for when entries are few the prize often goes for fish of comparatively small size.

Entries of the past week that came closest to breaking into the leader class were a 17 1/2 pound northern pike, 41 inches in length and 16 inches in girth that Andrew Kissell, Jr., of 614 Orient Ave. Cincinnati, Ohio, caught in Indian Lake and a 7 pound 12 ounce walleye that Henry Bunn of Escanaba caught off Ford River.

Conference Dates

The Wildlife Management Institute, which sponsors the North American Wildlife Conference, has scheduled the dates for the 1948 conference well ahead of time. The dates are March 8, 9 and 10 and the place of the meeting will be St. Louis, Missouri. The upcoming conference will be the thirteenth in the series held and is expected to draw a record attendance.

To Stop Fires

Because too high a percentage of the forest fires which continue to destroy our woodlands the Outdoor Writers of America are seeking to enlist the aid of manufacturers of cigarette in stopping these fires. The organization is asking the manufacturers to use some of the space on the wrappers in which their products are wrapped to carry printed reminders to smokers to use care with fire.

The suggestion has been made that each package carry an eye catching design or slogan to halt the waste of timber and wildlife resources by fire of a nature similar to these: "Prevent Forest Fires—Put Out Your Cigarette" or "Be a Friend Your Wildlife—Don't Throw Away Lighted Cigarettes."

At this time of the year when so many people are seeking the comfort of the cool woodlands no opportunity should be overlooked to keep everyone mindful of the need to be careful with all forms of fire.

Red Green and Blue

Those are the colors that Michigan hunters will be wearing this fall. A million and a half hunters' back tags in those colors are being printed.

Simplification of the license schedule permits cutting the number of colors to three: green for small game hunters, red for deer hunters, blue for archers, with the prefix N in the serial numbering restricted to non-resident licenses.

To supply 3,000 license dealers the conservation department is ordering 900,000 resident and 20,000 non resident small game, 475,000 deer and 20,000 non resident deer tags.

For the first time, this fall bow and arrow deer hunting licenses will be made available at all dealers, to eliminate the delay and difficulty of issuing so many of them in Lansing. About 4,500 archers were licensed to hunt deer last season.

The fee schedule for residents is: $2 for small game hunting and $3.50 for deer hunting; for non residents: $15 for small game hunting, $35 for deer hunting, $10 for bow and arrow deer hunting.

Petrillo Lifts Ban On School Festival Music Broadcasts

Chicago, July 23 (AP)—James C. Petrillo, president of the AFL American Federation of Musicians, said today he had agreed to a program which would permit school children to broadcast music festivals, but declined to comment on whether or not the agreement would affect students at the National Music Camp, Interlochen, Mich.

A long-standing feud between Petrillo and Dr. Joseph E. Maddy, founder and director of the camp, began in the summer of 1942, when the camp's broadcasts were ordered banned from the air by Petrillo. In 1945 the camp was placed on the AFM "unfair list" and in January, 1946, Dr. Maddy was expelled from the union.

In Washington today, Rep. Kearns (R-Pa.) announced that Petrillo had agreed to steps which would permit school children musicians to participate in civic functions and broadcast music festivals. Music educators will draft a "code of ethics," Kearns said, to be submitted to Petrillo and himself for approval.

Asked whether the new agreement would affect the National Music Camp students, Petrillo said the "subject never came up" during his discussions with Kearns and educators.

"They're not school children at Interlochen," he said. "They don't belong to any school when they're out there. We didn't go into it and I don't want to go into it."

At Interlochen, Dr. Maddy said that Petrillo "has agreed to nothing more than he has to," under the Lea act.

"Beyond that, it's just so much eyewash," Dr. Maddy added. "He hasn't agreed to permit broadcasts from here although the law prohibits his interference."

Time Bomb Sinks Jewish Immigrant Ship In Haifa Port

BY CARTER L. DAVIDSON

Jerusalem, July 23 (AP)—The former Liberty ship Empire Lifeguard was sunk in Haifa harbor by an internal explosion today while discharging legal Jewish immigrants from Cyprus. It apparently was a blow of revenge for the ship's part in deportations of would-be immigrants.

Jewish sources voiced fears that the British military may crack down harder on all Jewry as a result of the new terror offensive which in the past week has taken a toll of eight killed and more than 60 wounded.

The Empire Lifeguard, one of four ships used to haul would-be immigrants from Palestine to Cyprus when their ships are intercepted by the British navy, went down when a time bomb ripped a hole three by six feet in her bottom.

The Lifeguard had brought 261 immigrants from Cyprus and had discharged all but 40 or 50. These were taken off safely.

Summer School
Engadine, Mich.—For three weeks, Sisters M. Pancratius, Marguerite, and Mary Robert, Dominican Sisters of Adrian Michigan, have been conducting a summer school in the parishes of Engadine, Gould City and Naubinway. The children were transported by bus from Naubinway and Gould City to the Engadine high school. Under the supervision of these Sisters 105 boys and girls received daily religious instructions. At the 8 o'clock Mass at St. Joseph church Gould City Sunday July 13 five of this number received their First Communion. They were Patricia McDonald, Judy Pettet, Gerald Brunette, Thomas Blanchard and Kenneth Fisher. The procession entered the church led by George Holt, cross bearer, at the Communion of the Mass these children were led to the altar by two angels, Marilyn Holt and Phyllis LaLonde, who wore blue lined capes and diadems. At 9:30 in St. Stephen's church, Naubinway nine received their First Holy Communion. They were Margaret Leveille, Dorothy Barber and Gerald Belliville of Naubinway, and John and Mary Davis, John and Matthew Spears, Leonard Perkins and James Butkovich of Engadine. This procession was led by cross bearer Richard Maudrie and the angels were represented by Lor etta Maudrie and Yvonne Vallier, who wore blue lined capes and white diadems. Rev. Clifford Nadeau read both of the Masses. The singing of Communion hymns through the Mass was rendered by a selected group from those attending the summer school. Tuesday, July 10 a program was arranged honoring Father Nadeau, pastor of these mission churches at Engadine, Naubinway and Gould City, in appreciation of the summer school of 1947. It opened with a school song by the assembly and the following program was given: Our Thank You Day by the Primary grades; Rosa Mystica by Intermediates; Poem by Genevieve Vallier; Our Appreciation by Agnes Legault; Presentation by Iris LaLonde; Christ the King by assembly. LIONS TO PLAY BALL AT RAPID

Joint Meeting Of Clubs Tonight; Lunch To Follow
Lions of Gladstone and Rapid River meet jointly at Rapid River this evening. The meeting is to be preceded by a baseball game between the two clubs at 6 o'clock. It will be followed by Dutch lunch at the Legion club rooms. Claims and counterclaims have been hurled about all week on behalf of each team. Yesterday Lion Lord was reported to have taken part of the Rapid River team and headed for the woods for a private practice and conditioning session far beyond the prying eyes of any Gladstone Lions. From the glowing reports on the Gladstone team it would appear that about half of the members were did an injustice in not being placed on the All-Star teams of 1947. However, it all narrows down to the fact that Harold Switzer, who is a member of the Gladstone club but conducts a business in Rapid River, is being barred from playing, but efforts to learn which club has entered the protest has proved futile.

Trade Magazine
Praises The Late
Louis W. Kempf

Appreciation of the contribution to science and to the common good made by the late L. W. Kempf, a former Manistique resident, is voiced in an article appearing in the July issue of the Alcoa Forecast, a trade publication of the Aluminum Corporation of America.

"A priceless store of metallurgical knowledge exists today as mankind's eternal heritage from Walter Louis Kempf, associate director of Aluminum Research Laboratories," the article states. The article continues "Scientist, inventor and author, and friend of hundreds of his Alcoa co-workers, Mr. Kempf succumbed at Cleveland, Ohio, to cancer with which he was stricken nearly a year ago. . . His passing at the height of a brilliant career, was a tragic loss to a world which will long benefit from his perceptive intellect."

The article credits Mr. Kempf with being the inventor of numerous aluminum alloys and the author of many metallurgical treatises now regarded as standard references.

Mr. Kempf spent many years here as a youth and was a graduate of Manistique high school. His mother, Mrs. Martha F. Kempf, resides in this city.

The annual Tri-County Midget Baseball league tournament will be held at Manistique, August 8 and 9. Invitations have already been sent to Escanaba, Gladstone, Garden, Trenary, Munising, Rapid River, Nahma, Chatham and several other cities that may wish to enter teams.

The purpose of the tournament, Thor Reque, recreational director states, is to be made possible the baseball play for the younger boys who otherwise might not have an opportunity to play outside teams. The teams are composed of boys 14 years of age and under. To insure the best competition the following simple rules will govern tournament play:

All games will be 7 innings. All boys must be 14 years or under.

Eligibility will be left in the hands of the sponsor. A fee of $1 is required to defray trophy expenses.

No admission will be charged except for the final.

Admission for the final game will be 25 cents.

Deadline for entries will be Aug. 6.

Time and diamond assignments will be forwarded to all competitors.

Two umpires will handle each game. Visitors who have available men willing to "ump" are urged to bring them along.

The final game will be played at 6:30 p. m. in a twilight contest, on the number 1 diamond.

For information, write Manistique Recreation Office or phone 569-W.

Several teams are already entered. Approximately 12 teams are expected to enter and the three available diamonds will make it possible to run off all games on time. Cities entering teams are urged to do so as soon as possible to make the schedule completed early enough to permit the press notices to reach all competitors.

Output Of Tinsplate
Is 26 Billion Cans

BY T. E. APPLEGATE
New York, July 19 (AP) — More tinsplate than ever before is available this year to can many of the nation's beverage and food products.

This increase has been accomplished even though tin remains in short supply and under government allocation. It was made possible, industry sources say, by expanded use of the electrolytic process which is estimated to save about 40 percent in the amount of tin used for plating, as compared with the hot-dipped method.

In the new process the tin coating is applied by electrolysis to a steel sheet moving through a production line at high speed.

A larger amount of hot-dipped plate, can manufacturers expect to produce some 26,000,000 cans this year compared with 24,100,000,000 in 1946.

Packers of fruits and vegetables will absorb the largest proportion of this record output. Heavy demands also are reported for cans to hold beer and vacuum-packed products such as coffee.

Trade sources estimate that a record 60 percent of the total States may be vacuum-packed in this year compared with 30 percent in 1941.

To meet these and other anticipated demands the steel industry is building new mills for production of tinsplate, while can manufacturers are spending millions of dollars enlarging their facilities.

THEY LIKE AMERICA — Mr. and Mrs. Jacob LeMaire, who came recently to live with their son, Frank LeMaire of Manistique, regard America as a paradise when compared with war-torn Germany, their homeland. The LeMaires are natives of Rhin, Bavaria.

'This Is Paradise,' Says
Couple Newly Arrived
From War-Torn Germany

BY JAMES R. LOWELL

"America is paradise!" That is what Jacob LeMaire, father of Frank LeMaire, of Manistique, is moved to say many times a day as he looks about him and takes in his beautiful surroundings at the LeMaire home on Smith lake 12 miles north of the city.

His wife, while not so enthusiastic in her manner of speech, shares his sentiment and is probably even more impressed than her husband with the loveliness, abundance and peace with which their new home is blessed and she confesses that she wonders sometimes if what she and her husband have seen in America in the few short weeks they have been here can really be true.

"It was early this summer that Herr and Frau LeMaire, highly respected residents of Speyer am Rhein, Bavaria, Germany, set out from that city, where they had lived all their lives, to make their new home in America. It was with reluctance that they did so. They were in their seventies and people of that age are not easily transplanted. But life in the Fatherland, under post-war conditions had become hopeless and discouraging, and the invitation from their son and his wife to come and stay with them as long as they wished was gratefully accepted.

Knew Nazi Persecution
Mr. LeMaire's visa, made out by the Allied Control Commission, contains among other information, the following: "Holder of this card belongs to the category of people who in the past years were severely persecuted by the Nazis for political reasons."

Presenting these credentials, they set sail for New York City on the USS Erie Pyle and on their arrival were met at the waterfront by their son and his wife, who took them by car back to their Michigan home.

Enroute from New York, they stopped off at Detroit where they visited the widow of their son Carl and their grandson. Carl was killed in a motor accident three years ago.

Impressed by Abundance
"It is all so wonderful," this elderly couple repeat again and again in their conversation when asked what they think of America. "You have all you want of everything! Food! White bread! I call it cake," says Mrs. LeMaire. "Yes, and meat and milk and butter!" says Mr. LeMaire.

"and you are not under orders of some foreign country you don't have to observe regulations to observe. You don't have to whisper for fear someone who doesn't like you will hear you and report you to the authorities and get you into trouble." And Mrs. LeMaire adds as an afterthought, "You people in America look so healthy, and so happy and your country is at peace!"

Taught Trade to Local People
The elder LeMaire in his younger years, was an expert tool and die maker, and for many years was foreman in a large manufacturing establishment of that sort in Speyer. His son Frank and also George Schweikert, of the Manistique Tool & Manufacturing Company, were both apprenticed under him and became masters in this exacting trade under his direction.

The years dealt kindly with Mr. and Mrs. LeMaire. He prospered in his work. Life was pleasant in pre-war Bavaria—the land of good music and good living. He was highly regarded in the councils of his community and they were active in its social life. But he began to note with growing concern the gradual encroachment of a fanatical political movement headed by a paper hanger, from Austria and while willing to concede to others the right to think as they chose, he didn't hesitate to say what he thought of Hitler and his ideas. Eventually the day came when the war was on. It became the law of the land that no expression of political faith but that which conformed to the Nazi ideology would be tolerated. Those who had looked with disfavor upon Hitler came under surveillance. Those who had been outspoken were sent to concentration camps. Because of his advanced years, Mr. LeMaire's fate was delayed. But it came eventually. The day that the Allies established their first beachhead on the coast of Normandy, he was sent to a dread place of detention. Here he remained for eleven months until finally liberated by American troops. This liberation, he says, was a glorious moment in his life. Joyfully he climbed up into the crowded armored car that was to take him back to Speyer and to his beloved wife. But as he neared his home city he became filled with misgivings. Destruction was everywhere. During those terrible days of invasion, very little reliable information trickled through the walls of the concentration camp. Was Mrs. LeMaire safe? His heart sank as he reached the city. Speyer, like nearly all industrial cities in Germany, had suffered terrible destruction from the air. Many places were in rubble. The plant where he had worked was one of these. But to his great joy, he found the home untouched and his wife safe and well.

Would Rather Not Talk
Concerning what happened in the concentration camp, Mr. LeMaire will only shake his head by way of answer. Like most people who have suffered the indignities and tragedies of war, he would rather not dwell on this unpleasant subject. "While I am in this paradise of America I want to enjoy it. I want to forget those things that are only black memories," he says.

There is, of course, much of the old Fatherland that he still recalls with tenderness—those days when the world was at peace and when the people of Bavaria were sturdy and self-reliant—when they sang and enjoyed life. He pointed to a photograph on the wall of the LeMaire home—a picture of a bowl-shaped club to which he had belonged. This one, and this one, and that one, he said sadly, had lost their lives in the war.

Bare Existence
Living in Bavaria, is on a bare existence plan, the couple stated. Subsistence rationing, guaranteeing a prescribed calorie diet, is supposed to be in effect, but more often than not, those who present their ration coupons are unable to have them filled. Each person is allowed one pound of meat per month. Butter is simply non-existent and edible fats and oils are nearly as scarce. One-quarter of a pound of bread (black, heavy and indigestible) is allowed each person per day. Each person is allowed one pound of ersatz coffee per month. Potatoes, also strictly rationed, are the chief item of diet. Bavarian wine and beer, which played such a vital part in the "gemuetlichkeit" for which the people of this region were famous, is now but a memory. Shoes and clothing are simply unobtainable. "You can't even buy a sewing needle," says Mrs. LeMaire.

Concerning the army of occupation, they have nothing but kind regards. The residents are treated with respect. Bavaria is in the French zone.

Marvel at Wasteland
One thing about America which seems to amaze Mr. LeMaire more than anything else is the vast amount of land going to waste. Such practices as are everywhere evident in America trouble the man whose entire life has been devoted to the practice of sensible thrift. When told that this or that tract of unused land isn't farmed because the soil is poor, he simply cannot understand. "It can be made productive," he says.

One of his first acts upon arrival at the LeMaire home was the spading up of a small garden. The soil there is sandy and he admits that it will not amount to much; but in the meantime he has dug a deep pit in which he is putting grass, weeds and trimmings from the flower garden. This will produce humus for next year's garden. "And then you'll see," he says.

He also plans to raise turkeys on a large scale. This charming couple does not speak English and both of them are overjoyed when addressed with even a few impossibly pronounced words of German. Just before bidding "Auf Wiedersehen" to the writer, Mr. LeMaire said, "I am glad to be in the country of those fine men—soldiers of America—who rescued me and returned me to my home, to my wife and to my loved ones."

Women's Club
Announces Route
Of Garden Tour

The last of a series of summer activities planned by the Manistique Woman's club for the benefit of the County Memorial hospital fund will be the garden tour and tea sponsored by the American Home and Garden committee on Friday afternoon, July 25.

The committee urges all club members to attend the party and to invite any others who would enjoy such an affair.

The tour will start with the garden of Mrs. Finch, next to the post office. Gardens to be visited will be designated by markers and will be open to guests from 2:30 on. They are at the homes of L. O. Finch, Chas. Shining, E. T. Lundstrom, Geo. Norton, Scott Creighton, J. S. Wilde, R. L. Prime, E. R. Monroe, H. K. Peterson, Geo. Schweikert, Clarence Peterson, I. J. McLaughlin, Mrs. Gordon Hughes, A. W. Heitman.

Coffee will be served at the fireplace in the Hughes garden from 3 to 5.

A garden tour is a new venture in Manistique but the garden committee hopes this one will prove successful, in which case tours to gardens in other parts of the city will be planned for next summer.

BOSTON ATTACK SMOTHERS CUBS

Bob Elliott's Grand Slam Homer Touches Off 12-4 Triumph

Chicago, July 23 (AP)—Homer by Bob Elliott and Phil Masi topped a 12-hit Boston attack which smothered the Chicago Cubs, 12 to 4, here today and kept the Braves in the National league competition.

Ending a stretch of 17 times at bat without a hit, Elliott blasted a grand slam homer in the first inning to feature a seven-run attack on Starter Hank Wyse and Reliever Emil Kueh. Masi followed with a three run homer in the sixth, during which the Braves scored four runs off Bob Chipman.

While his mates were paving his pathway with base hits, Johnny Sain held the Cubs scoreless until the seventh, with a 12-0 lead. He let up to allow three runs on five hits, including doubles by Cliff Abernethy and by Sturgeon. Bill Nicholson's double led to the Cubs' final run in the ninth.

NEVER-GIVE-UP CARDS WIN, 6-5

Four Runs In Last Of Ninth Inning Nip New York

St. Louis, July 23 (AP)—The "never-give-up" St. Louis Cardinals rallied with four runs in the last of the ninth inning today to nip New York, 6-5, pulling to within a half a game of the third-place Giants. They still trail leading Brooklyn by 6½ games.

Red Schoendienst's single scoring Pinch Hitter Erv Dusak and Pinch Runner Joffe Cross was the final blow that sunk Dave Koslo with his sixth defeat.

Trailing 5-2, the good sized weekday afternoon crowd of 12,121 sensed a Red Bird comeback when Whitey Kuroski opened the last half inning with a single. Enos Slaughter fled out but Joe Medwick moved Kuroski to second with a single.

Manager Eddie Dyer, playing all the percentages, sent in Chuck Diering to run for Medwick and Koslo passed Marty Marion, leading the bases. Erv Dusak, batting for Del Rice, forced Marion at second but Kuroski scored.

When Del Wilber, hitting for Reliever Al Brazie, doubled to right, Diering came home and Dusak took third.

The fleet-footed Cross went in to run for Wilber and scampered home behind Dusak when Schoendienst singled to center to break up the ball game.

Two walks, Buddy Kerr's double and a single by Joe Lafata, playing first in place of the injured Johnny Mize, accounted for two Giants runs in the first. The Cards tied the score in the second on Kuroski's single. Medwick's double and Marion's single.

Singles by Kerr, Bobby Thomson and Willard Marshall plus a wild pitch by Starter George Muehr produced two additional New York scores in the third and brought Ken Burkhardt to the scene.

After Walker Cooper slammed his 21st homer into the right field seats in the eighth and the Giants threatened to add more, Dyer replaced Burkhardt with Brazie who eventually received credit for his ninth win.

The Sports Parade

BY JIM WARD

Announcement that the Eskymos would play two and possibly three night football games away from home next fall does not come as any great surprise.

The Escanaba board of education announced last spring that it had decided to change its attitude regarding night football and that it would approve night games for the Eskymos away from home.

This is undoubtedly a forerunner to night football at Escanaba—not in 1947, however. Only obstacle remaining is financial. Present costs of lighting installations have bounced into the stratosphere and the school board doesn't have any loose change for a lighting installation—the loose change in this instance being figured at roughly 13 grand.

Commissioner George Grenholm of the Tri-County baseball league has a protest on his hands for quick settlement. The protest has been entered by the Gladstone Juniors, who dropped an 8-6 decision at Chatham Saturday night in a game halted by rain after seven innings of play.

Manager Haga claimed that when the teams left the field because of rain they were instructed to park back in a half hour. Gladstone lads showed up at the field at the appointed time, but Chatham players were not in sight.

The Gladstone boys left 20 minutes later and according to their story, the field was in playable condition. At least that's one side of the story. It'll be Grenholm's duty to get the other side.

It's a good bet that Major Jim Ward, the regular conductor of this column, is busier than a one armed paperhanger at the National Guard encampment at Grayling. Jim said that he was going to send back a piece or two on sports activities at the camp, particularly stressing sports participation by the Escanaba contingent.

The suggestion for the organization of an Upper Peninsula softball circuit apparently is taking root. It was discussed favorably at the softball meeting in Negaunee last weekend and it seems definite that such a league, perhaps two covering the peninsula, will be established for the 1948 season.

All of the details have not yet been worked out, however. That will come later.

Three Homers Help Pirates Sink Phils By 6 and 2 Margins

Pittsburgh, July 23 (AP)—Three home runs, two by Ralph Kiner—his 24th and 25th of the season—and one by Hank Greenberg, tonight helped the Pittsburgh Pirates sink the Philadelphia Phillies 6 to 2 before a crowd of 27,563.

Ernie Bonham, a New York Yankee castoff, scattered 11 hits in notching his eighth victory against three defeats.

GAME STARTS AT 6:15 SHARP

Noted Colored Team Is Talented; Plays In Grass Skirts

The grass-skirted Zulu Cannibal Giants of Louisville, Kentucky, colorful and classy colored baseball team, will play the Escanaba Bears in an exhibition game this evening at 6:15 o'clock, EST, at the City diamond here.

All of the players of the Bears are advised to report early so that the game can get underway at 6:15 promptly in order to play a full nine inning game before darkness intervenes.

The season's largest crowd is anticipated for this exhibition game, featuring one of the outstanding traveling teams of the nation. Fans are invited to come early to watch the colored lads go through their comical pre-game paces. The gates will be opened at 5:15, an hour before game time to accommodate the fans. Incidentally, all of the bleachers that were removed from the baseball park during the Hiawathaland Festival are back in the baseball park now and accommodations will be available for a large crowd of fans.

Outstanding Talent The Cannibal team was organized in 1934 and has its title, costumes and mode of baseball presentation copyrighted. The team appears in grass skirts and gaudy jerseys and individual players are given such native names as Nyassas and Imppo.

The Zulus are comprised of an array of outstanding Negro talent, including the following: Lloyd Hogan and Donald Fitzgerald, of Kentucky State College; Stan Tabo, of the Louisville Municipal college; George Grueger, of the Montgomery Gray Sox; Melvin Harde, of the New Orleans Black Pelicans; A. D. Lewis of the Indianapolis Clowns; William Moeze of the Nashville Cubs; William Johnson, of West Virginia State college; George Anderson, of the Dallas Green Monarchs; Joe Heardon, of the Louisville Black Spiders; and Robert Truitt, of the St. Louis Giants.

Manager John Schwalbach has not indicated what his pitching selection will be for the Zulu game. Joe Rademacher, who hurtled for the Escanaba Cubs last season and got a tryout this year with the Keokuk, Iowa farm club of the Pittsburgh chain, has joined the Bears' staff and may get the nod for duty tonight. If not, it will be either Jim Fitzpatrick or Jack Beck.

Negro Player Stars As Brownies Check Romping Yanks, 8-2

New York, July 23 (AP)—Ellis Kinder snapped a personal five-game losing streak and halted the New York Yankees in their tracks with a six-hit, 8-2 decision for the St. Louis Browns today with the help of four singles by Willard Brown and a two-run homer by Jeff Heath.

Brown, one of two negro players recently purchased from the Kansas City Monarchs, drove in three runs and scored once in the Browns' 13-hit attack on starter Frank Shea, Joe Page and Al Lyons.

Shea, a key figure in the Yanks' pennant drive with an impressive 11-2 win record going into the game, left in the third inning, Ramsdell, professor of forest land management under a forestry foundation for the University of Michigan, who is one of the instructors at the camp. He will be assisted by Dr. L. H. Halverson, head of the geography department of the Northern Michigan College of Education.
